

TAG Offers BRCGS Food Standard v. 9 Training

Enhance your practices today by seeking TAG's certified experts to train your team.

November 16, 2022. With the issuance of the newly updated BRCGS Food Standard, Issue 9, new training courses have been developed, which The Acheson Group (TAG) Approved Training Experts can provide for your team.

The update includes a focus on the latest industry trends, recent and emerging food safety risks, and industry best practices. Issue 9 takes into consideration all the lessons learned from the Covid 19 pandemic, the regulatory changes and latest industry requirements to supply safe food to the consumer with key changes in requirements for food safety culture, food defense, vendor approval process, facilities, and equipment sections.

TAG's BRCGS Approved Training Partners have hands-on industry experience in BRCGS certificated manufacturing sites and now offer training onsite or online. Trainings include:

1. BRCGS Global Standard for Food Safety Issue 8 to 9 Conversion for Auditors
2. BRCGS Global Standard for Food Safety Issue 8 to 9 Conversion for Sites
3. BRCGS Hazard Analysis and Critical Control Points (HACCP)
4. BRCGS Hazard Analysis and Risk Assessment (HARA)
5. BRCGS Root Cause Analysis
6. BCGS Internal Auditing

In addition to these trainings, TAG offers a number of customized onsite and remote interactive trainings to increase performance and engagement throughout businesses. Each training is led by one or more of TAG's certified subject matter experts. Trainings available are U.S. and Canadian specific courses, standards and regulation trainings, HACCP, GFSI, and a variety of operational excellence curriculum.
